Key Terms

Adjusted Basis: The taxpayer's basis in a home increased or decreased by certain amounts. Increases include additions or improvements to the home such as installing a recreation room or putting on a new roof. In order to be considered an increase, the improvement must have a useful life of more than one year. Repairs that maintain the home in good condition are not considered improvements and should not be added to the basis of the property.

Amount Realized: The selling price minus selling expenses: commissions, advertising fees, legal fees, and loan charges paid by the seller, such as points).

Basis: The basis in a property is determined by how the taxpayer obtained the property. If a taxpayer bought or built a home, the basis is what it cost the taxpayer to buy or build that home. If the taxpayer inherited the property, the basis is its fair market value on the date of the decedent's death, or on the later alternate valuation date chosen by the representative for the estate. There are special rules for determining the basis of property received from decedents who died in 2010.

Capital Gain Distributions: Capital gains passed to investors typically by mutual funds (regulated investment companies) and real estate investment trusts (REITs).

Capital Loss Carryover: A taxpayer cannot take net losses of more than $3,000 ($1,500 for married taxpayers filing separately) in figuring taxable income for any single tax year. The allowable loss is referred to as the deduction limit. Unused losses can be carried over to later years until they are completely used up. The carryover losses are combined with the gains and losses that actually occur in the next year.

Dividends: A corporation's distributions to its shareholders from its earnings and profits.

DRIP Accounts: DRIP accounts leave cash dividends with the company for the purchase of additional shares. Even though these shares are from the same company, they retain their own individual basis separate from the original purchase. Each new purchased share could have a different basis.

Excludable Income: Income that is not included in the taxpayer's gross income and therefore exempt from federal income tax. Certain income may be exempt from tax but must be reported on the tax return.

First-time Homebuyer Credit: This credit is an expired provision. It provided first-time homebuyers with a maximum credit of $8,000 ($4,000 for Married Filing Separately). This was a refundable credit, meaning that even if the taxpayer did not owe any tax, the money would be refunded to the taxpayer. There are recapture provisions if the home was sold or rented within a 36-month period.

Five-year Test Period Suspension: Taxpayers can choose to have the five-year test period for ownership and use suspended during any period the homeowner (either spouse if married) served on qualified official extended duty as a member of the uniformed services or Foreign Service of the United States, as an employee of the intelligence community, or as an employee or volunteer of the Peace Corps. This means that the taxpayer may be able to meet the two-year use test even if the taxpayer and/or spouse did not actually live in the home during the normal five-year period required of other taxpayers.

Holding Period: Form 8949 requires entries for the stock purchase and sale dates. By entering both dates, the software automatically determines the holding period; either short-term or long-term.

Main Home: A taxpayer's "main" home is where they live most of the time. It does not have to be a traditional house; for example, it may be a houseboat, mobile home, cooperative apartment, or condominium, but it must have cooking, sleeping, and bathroom facilities.

Mutual Fund: A mutual fund is a regulated investment company generally created by "pooling" funds of investors providing the advantage of a diversity of investments and professional management.

Qualified Principal Residence Indebtedness: Any debt incurred in acquiring, constructing, or substantially improving a principal residence and which is secured by the principal residence. Qualified principal residence indebtedness also includes any debt secured by the principal residence resulting from the refinancing of debt incurred to acquire, construct, or substantially improve a principal residence but only to the extent the amount of the debt does not exceed the amount of the refinanced debt.

Sale of Main Home: Only a gain from the sale of a taxpayer's main home may be excluded from the taxpayer's income; a gain from a sale of a home that is not the taxpayer's main home will generally have to be reported as income.

Selling Price: The total amount the taxpayer (seller) received for his or her main home. It includes money, all notes, mortgages, or other debts taken over by the buyer as part of the sale, and the fair market value of any other property or services that the seller received.

Stock Dividends: Stock dividends merely increase the taxpayer's number of shares in the company and generally are not taxable.

Stock Split: A stock split is a method used by corporations to lower the market price of stock. A two-for-one stock split will decrease the basis per share by half. The original basis of $200 for 100 shares becomes $200 for 200 shares.

Wash Sale: A wash sale occurs when a taxpayer sells or otherwise disposes of stock or securities (including a contract or option to acquire or sell stock or securities) at a loss and, within 30 days before or after the sale or disposition, the taxpayer buys, acquires, or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

Reporting capital gain or loss

Prompt students to share what they know about reporting capital gains and losses using questions from the topic.

Direct students to Pub 4012, Entering Capital Gains and Losses.

Review flowchart in Pub 4012, Tab D, Income.

Ask:

- What is cost basis?
- What is the holding period? (When did you buy it and when did you sell it?)
- What is sales price?

Basis of Stock

Review L< topic Basis of Stock.

Ask students to define basis and adjusted basis.

Emphasize that Form 1099-B may not include how much taxpayers paid for the stock; if the Form 1099-B does not provide the basis, taxpayers must provide this information.

Remind volunteers they may provide assistance if taxpayers know the basis of property that was inherited or received as a gift. Otherwise, refer them to a professional tax preparer.

Caution students that if a taxpayer acquired property from a decedent who died in 2010, special rules may apply.

Holding period

Review L< topic Holding Period.

Ask: What are the short-term and long-term time periods? Answer: 1 year or less is short-term and more than 1 year is long-term.

Ask: Why is it important to determine long vs short-term? Answer: Short-term gains are taxed at regular income tax rates; long-term are taxed at a lower rate.

Ask: When does the holding period begin?
Answer: The day after the shares were purchased.

Review determination of gain or loss on the disposition of mutual fund shares.

Review with students holding periods for sales of stock in “blocks.” Blocks of Stock is covered in the section of the lesson Holding Period, Long-term or Short-term.

Proceeds from the sale

Review L< topic 1099-B Proceeds from the Sale.

Brokers must report on Form 1099-B:

- Cost or other basis, unless the securities sold were noncovered securities
- Whether the gain or loss is short-term or long-term, unless the securities sold were noncovered securities.

Review Form 1099-B for key boxes:

- Box 1b: Date acquired
- Box 1e: Cost or other basis
- Box 2: Type of gain or loss
- Box 5: Check if a noncovered security
- Box 6: Gross or net proceeds reported to IRS

Direct students to Pub 4012, Tab D, Income, Schedule D – Capital Gain or Loss.

Remind that TaxSlayer Schedule D Capital Gains screen will determine short or long term gain, calculate gain or loss, calculate tax liability, and capital loss carryovers.

Remind students to review the taxpayer's Form 1099-B to determine if the sales price is net of commissions and fees. If the net is not shown, then commissions and fees are added to the basis in the stock before entering the amount on the Capital Gain or Loss Transactions screen.

Verify students understand sample consolidated statement in L<.

Form 8949 and
Schedule D

Review L< topic Form 8949 and Schedule D.

Point out that capital gains and losses are detailed on various Forms 8949 and carried over to Schedule D. Form 8949 Page 1 is for short-term capital gains, Form 8949 Page 2 is for long-term capital gains.

Review the steps to enter all transactions in the Schedule D Capital Gains screens, which will automatically carry to Form 8949 and Schedule D.

Explain the adjustments to basis code that will appear on Form 8949.

Remind students that the subtotals from each
Form 8949 are carried over to Schedule D where gain or loss is calculated in the aggregate.

Review Form 1040, Schedule D.

Point out that if a taxpayer has both Form
1099-DIV and Form 1099-B, then capital gain distributions are added to Schedule D, Part II.
